THE Radicals were making prepa rations for an inauguration ball when Gen. Grant, learning that there would be trouble on account of the negroes intending to participate, wrote a note to those getting it up, requesting that there be no ball, and it was indefinitely postponed. It is now reported that the citizens have taken the matter in hand, and that a ball will be given in the new wing of the Treasury building, but the negroes will not be allowed to attend. Their votes were wanted when Grant was a condidate, but they are not wanted when an inauguration ball is to be given him.

THE Secretary of State Missouri threw out the votes of a number of counties and thus "elected" two Radicals to Congress The matter was carried to the Supreme Court of that State, and that hody has decided that the Secretary of State had no power to act in a judicial capacity touching the matter of tirade alleged illegal voting. This decision covers the case in this State, where Gov. Brownlow assumes judicial functions to throw out votes enough to effect Radicals. The Missouri to effect Radicals. UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE-BOUT-WELL'S AMENDMENT.

Bontwell's amendment to the constitution of the United States establishing universal negro suffrage, and thus forcing the North to accept what many of the States have already rejected, was adopted by the House of Representatives yesterday by the very decisive vote of 150 to 42. The following is the text of the joint resolution as reported by Mr. Boutwell from the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives on the 11th of January Transport I had W book

Joint Resolution Proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. The Second Proposition of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United State of America in Congress assembled, (two thirds of both Houses concurring.) That the following article be proposed to the Legislatures of the several States as an mendment to the Constitution of the United States, which, when ratified by three-fourths of said Legislatures, shall be held as part of said constitution power to enforce by appropriate legisla-tion the provisions of this article. It was confidently stated a few days ago that this resolution could not pass the House of Representa resolution, as did all the Representgramme of the friends of this measure, that it would be pushed the horrors of martial and the sus. and that most horrible of all vices, at Concress in time to be ratified by the Legislatures now or shortly to be in session. They feel confident that a sufficient number of Radical Legislatures could be forced to ratify the proposed amendment to give it effect. Contrary to the general expectation, they have carried the measure through the House of Representa tives by a decisive majority, and there is little doubt that it can be got through the Senate. Then the next thing will be to force its ratification by three-fourths of the State Legislatures. "Mr. Watson-General, martial law will be so expensive.

"Gen. Copper-Ah, there's the rub And there might be some hanging done; that would not materially injure the State or our good people.

We prefer to give a Radical ver sion of this interview, because it cannot be charged that there was an intention or a disposition to misrepresent Gen. Cooper. We now see how this effort to mollify the Governor and his man Friday is regarded by at least the latter disinguished personnge. It was stated in a Nashville paper that martial law was to be declared in some twenor thirty counties in Middle and West Tennessee, and a number of dunties were named as being officially ascertained as those in which martial law would be declared. This created a great deal of excitement in the counties named, and forthwith the people in those counties set about holding meetings to declare their purpose to abide by and maintain the laws, and they send delegations here to assure Gen. Cooper of their peeceful character and their determination. It was then discovered that this statement as to where martial law is to be declared is a pure fiction, and this is learned from no less a personage than Gen. Cooper. But the statement has worked mischief, and only mischief, for what it has excited the people to do, Gen. Cooper tells them is regarded "as mima facie evidence of the necessity which exists" for the presence the "loval militia" in their counties, with the very con oling assurance that if the citizens, not the civil authorities, do not at once go to work and arrest and bring to trial and punshment every law-breaker in their spective counties, the militia will as certainly be upon them as night ollows the day. It has also brought to Nashville a number of Brownlow, nor Gen. Cooper of militia to their county, that their by these Radicals in high positions to make them perform the duties their oaths require of them. This is Radicalism as illustrated by the Legislature, by Gov. Brownlow, by if less there can be, of the reigning dynasty. It will be seen that, in his chullition of bad temper and as had manners, elicited by the remark of Mr. Medlin, Gen. Cooper stated distinctly that the men who committed crimes of very grave character in Madison county, "are well known to the officers of the civil law." Yet it is notorious fact that these officers of the civil law, who are all Radicals, we believe, have made no effort to bring these offenders to justice. Radical officers of the civil law thus wink at crime or are top cowardly to attempt to arrest and bring the perpetrators to jus tice, and this is made a pretext for declaring martial and suspending the civil law in such counties, and

> INSURANCE TAXATION. The revenue laws of this State mpose a tax upon the year's receipts of the business of insurance. All business legitimate in themselves, and not opposed to public morals, should receive equally the fostering care of judicious legislators. Capital should be taxed, uet enterprise or character. These bring business; but business does not necessarily bring profits, as the whole industrial community, as everybody but office-holders can testify, has been the case for several years past. What would be thought of a law hat proposed to tax the masterarpenter a heavy per cent. on his ress receipts on his contract for building houses? Those receipts might be $100,000, and yet his net profits might be only $5,000 Would you tax him $2,000 on a profit of $5,000? Would you impoverish his family-deprive his hildren of food, of the inapprecible blessings of education, or orce him to go to other States where legislation is more judicious What would be thought of a law hat would tax a merchant an nerous per cent. on his gross cash ceipts, or on the amount of goods bought during the year? Every erislator knows that if such a law were enacted, it would force every merchant in our large towns to trake false returns, or to withdraw

But we hold that a tax upon gross cash receipts, or upon amount of business, is radically wrong, and directly opposed to the genius of our institutions and the progressive character of our people. It has been said, and truly said, that there is no country on the globe where energy and character are so amply rewarded as in our own-where the young have as many chances to make fortune and position.
